Mycha brings fresh, on-demand milk tea to Health Sciences Store

Fresh milk teas, fruit teas and specialty drinks are now available at the Health Sciences Store with the new addition of the Mycha vending machine.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 20, 2023 – I cha, you cha, he she me, cha? How about Mycha? Newly added to the Health Sciences Store, Mycha vends on-demand tea to satisfy every drink craving at the touch of a button.

Mycha, an Asian-owned company based in Chicago, was established in 2018. The company specializes in a variety of bubble tea, fruit tea and coffee creations that are made fresh and stocked in the self-service machine daily.

Now those near the Center for Health Sciences can stop by the Health Sciences Store, one of the six UCLA Store locations and a division of Associated Students UCLA, to grab a specialty milk tea of their choice through Mycha without waiting.

“Mycha is diversifying the food and snack options at the Health Sciences Store with campus favorites of milk tea,” said Jose Quiroz, UCLA Store Market manager. “All drinks are made and stocked daily and have a shelf life of 24-48 hours to ensure quality and freshness with each Mycha order.”

Vending up to 12 different flavors available in two sizes, tea enthusiasts can enjoy the milk tea flavors of jasmine, roasted oolong, matcha and more. Additional beverage offerings include Vietnamese coffee, mango lassi, and variations of classic green tea like lychee and peach, amongst other choices. Bubble tea add-ons and seasonal flavors are available depending on the in-stock items.

Although milk teas, a majority of the Mycha beverage offerings do not contain dairy and instead use non-dairy creamer and lactose-free milk. All drinks are marked with ingredient labels to clearly indicate which items include dairy products.
